BORDER VILLAGE BATTLE

SHUMCHUN RAID ON BANDITS

LEADER KILLED

OFFICER SLAIN IN ATTACK

Having an important bearing t is claimed, on armed crime in the New Territories, of which there have been cuite a few disturbing instances lately, a combined police and military operation was carried out by the Chinese authorities towards the end of last week in a village not far from the British border.

Numerous casualties occurred in the course of the fighting which ensued, those killed being:

Niu Hung-tsai, the bandit chief who was caught by machine-gun

Chung Chun-wa, a lieutenant who fell during the attack.

Two other soldiers were hit and injured more or less, seriously, while a number of bandita were wounded. Five prisoners, including a woman believed to be the wife of the bandit chief, were caught and taken to Canton.

BORDER RAIDS.

It is known that the Hongkong authorities, concerned over a number of shooting outrages in the New Territories, traceable to gunmen crossing over from Chinese territory, have been in consultation with the Canton Government on the subject. Recently, following indications as to the identity of certain bad characters and their connexion with the New Territories cases. Inspector Che Hung of the C.I.D.

went to Canton. The next development was the important operation carried out at the Chinese village on the night of Thursday-Friday last.

BANDITS OPEN FIRE.

A detachment of soldiers from he Shumchun-garrison, belonging to General Heung Hong-ping's Division and led by Captain Wu Chiu-han, laft for the bandits' lair at Wong Kon Sun Hee, 20 linfrom Shataukok on the border, arriving there on Thursday night.

The raid was to have been a surprise, but in a certain measure was deprived of this element by the barking of dogs, and the soldiers found the robbers more or less prepared.

A cordon of some 200 soldiers thrown around the hamlet advanced to the attack.

In seeking to secure entry into the first house where the robbers were thought to be sleeping, military party was fired upon from under cover.

LIEUTENANT KILLED.

Lieut. Chung Chun-wa, leading while two of his party were also on suspected points.

The action continued through the night, and terminated at daylight, with the killing, of the robber chief, the wounding of a number of the robbers and the surrender of five others of the

WOMAN PRISONER.

Among the prisoners taken was woman, Lai Yau, believed to be the wife of Niu Hung-tsai, the slain bandit chief.

Detectives from the Canton Police Force, present at the operations, took charge of the prisoners and escorted them to Canton for trial. How far the captured may be connected with the New Territory cases, in particular with the shooting affair near the border on December 29 last, when a ricedealer was ruthlessly shot and killed and another New Territory elder injured, has to be establish-

THE HOSTESS.

Table Decoration Up-to-Date.

A good hostess will always contrive to arrange her dining-table attractively. And a little ingenuity goes a long way when table decorations are in question:

"A piece of mirror glass, a prettily moulded glass bowl, and a few beautifully tinted flowers or leaves used with imagination can' give distinction to the, most ordinary-looking dinner-table. It is always worth while thinking out fresh schemes, for her table reflects the personality of the hostess and considerably helps towards the success of the meal.

One woman recently concocted n most attractive tablecloth out of at no rough woven silk-remuants from her curtains-which sae planted to cover, the entire table. The same idea might be carried out with linen or the new thick artificial silks which are on the market now: A charming effect can be obtained by mean of white or coloured linent runrors. One should be laid down the centre of the tables from top to bettom, and two others placed across. This arrangement would be for six people, but if there were more than six, mats to match the runners should be used. for the other covers.

Another hostess who possessed a beautiful refectory table, of which she was very proud, placed three circles of mirror down the centre. In the middle of each a square hole had been cut, and in this a shallow cut-glass bowl had been placed. Marigolds, 'shaded from yellow to a deep orange, floated in the bowls, and trailing leaves were reflected in the mirrors.

Some of the newest centrepieces take the form of square-cut glass bowls with beautifully moulded glass figures poised on either end. Tiny electric bulbs hidden within a cluster of leaves on the table at the side of such a bowl-but not in the waterwould illuminate the little figures charmingly.

Paris is raving about the new costumes, just launched, in dacouered silks that are called "porcelain." America has its own counterpart, expressed by this charming scarlet cire chiffon jacket that tops a black chiffon speakeasy dress.

The cire chiffon gleams like Incovered satin, yet is soft like chiffon. The jacket has huge puffed sleeves which slip above the elbow and it crosses in front to fasten in the centre of the back.

Hollywood.—Spring fever is breaking out in gay prints and plaids these days. Greys and greens are good colours.

Heather Angel wears a neat little Scotch plaid sheer wool suit, proving that skirts are to be cut on the straight, with kick pleats both front and back. It is a charming plaid, greens, grey and white, with the mess jacket made with conservative sleeves and bone buttons, and worn over a white silk pique shirt, with tie of same.

Dancing at the Biltmore Supper Room, the other night, Heather wore a pert rose taffeta jacket over her white chiffon dress, with huge, puffed, short sleeves.

THE PROBLEM OF ILLITERACY

NOVEL SCHEME IN FOOCHOW

" Foochow, Mar. 8. It is pleasant to be able to re-Members of the Hongkong Police port a praiseworthy effort being nade by the Chinese authorities o solve the problem of illiteracy. They are trying, within four months, to see to it that, every person in Foochow, under twentyive years of age, can read and write up to a minimum standard.

The first step was taken a week | a tourist. or so ugo, when a demonstration | of teachers, pupils, and represencruits will attend at the Chinese Com- tatives of public bodies paraded the contagion of Fascism, for his he streets to arouse interest in address to-day at the Society of he undertaking. Placards were Lecturers was a plea for a radical tuck up everywhere indicating reform of the State on authorihe value of being able to read tarian lines. His main points and the loss incurred by those were as follows:

A few days ago, a definite and vell-prepared effort was made to toral pressure. and out exactly how many of the Central Police Station on Thur day, people are still illiterate. The "Maren 16th under Sun Insticcati la a whole city was divided into secequipment etc. by the Company Com- lotted to some school or other mander. Fall in at 5.30 p.m. sharp. body to investigate. The police urned out in force to lend assistance. Every house was visitid, and careful note taken of those who could not read. In case of doubt a card bearing twenty characters was used to give a est, and those who could read less than fifteen were classifised as lliterate....

> Much difficulty was experienced in overcoming prejudice and getting at the real facts, but cer-'ainly some headway was made. The third step is the establishment of schools for the people, and the provision of teachers." Failure to attend will be punished, and those teachers who get good results will be rewarded.

M. TARDIEU INDICTS PARLIAMENT .

"UNEQUAL TO ITS TASK"

M. Andre Tardieu made an imthought on his return from Italy, where since his fall from the Premiership he has been travelling as

It would seem that M. Tardieu's political ideas have not escaped

(1) The Chamber, which has no control over public a expendi-

(2) Longer Parliaments; a defeated Premier to have right of dissolution.

(3) The referendum system, with votes for women. (4). Revolutionary doctrines to be a bar to the Civil Service.

THE FATE OF ROME If they wanted to avoid the fate of Rome there was no time to lose, said M. Tardieu. Neither in the control of finance nor in the conduct of public opinion nor in the management of foreign affairs was the electoral regime in its present form equal to its task, and it might well be swept away" in a moment of panic. To save it a profound modification was neces-

The author wrote: "In October, 1932, the whole of the medical faculty of Nihon University, Tokyo, declared a strike to demand the reinstatement of Dr. Nukada. Dean of the Faculty, who had recently been asked to resign. Or this occasion the 700 medical students each drew blood from the forefinger and in it signed an oath that they would not return to their studies until the authorities agreed to reinstate their Dean.

The author corrected the proofs six times, which is the minimum number required in Japan if errors are to be avoided in any English text. He then marked them O.K. certain that the text would appear without a single typographical howler.

He had failed, however, to take into account the Japanese printer. When the pamphlet appeared, nicely bound, and after many copies had been duly distributed Japanese educationists, and others sent to educational reviews in England and America, the author's attention was called to the tragic fact that the word "forefinger" appeared as "foreigner" in the completed work.

There is a reason for this comparison with the earlier play beyond their common departure from theatrical convention. The one play shows English manhood struggling with the War. The other English womanhood struggling with the Peace. There is a strong element of tragedy in each, yet in both there is much to relieve it. In neither is the help of the opposite sex required, and in neither is its

The New Poor

The main theme of the present play is the effect upon character of poverty, particularly post-war poverty. We have put before us a contrast between what are called 'The New Poor" and the rea poor. The authors show us the influence of a girl afflicted with "New Poverty" on others who have to endure the real thing. The nature of Bridget Penarth's "Poverty" is shown by the fact the Park instead, presumably, of other nourishment, and if these hunting three days a week in the shires. In certain circles much sympathy is lavished on such people. It is presumed that once they have led an idle and uscless life they have some sort of prescriptive right to go on leading idle and useless lives. In the present play there is none of this misplaced sympathy...

WHEN IS A PERSON DEAD?

BRAIN STOPS WHEN

Is it possible, with the resources of modern science, to bring the dead back to life?

The question arises when one considers the remarkable case reported 'recently. A woman's heart stopped beating during an operation; "she was, in fact, dead"; yet now she is almost well again.

The answer depends on what we mean by death. The plain truth is that no living thing is really dead until its machinery is so far damaged that it can never work again. When the heart stops beating there is no longer any circulation of blood through the tissues. The brain, the heart, and the muscles" that she is reduced to riding in are thus deprived of oxygen and are not quickly supplied again the delicate mechanisms are destroyed for ever.

Formerly no method was known by which the heart, once stopped, could be restarted; so the moment when the heart stopped was regarded as the moment of death.

Now, however, various ways of stimulating an inactive heart have been found, and there is no reason why recovery should not take place at any stage, provided the circulation can be, made to start again and the brain has not been damaged beyond repair.

Thus we may say now that death takes place not when the heart stops, but when the brain

A POLICEMAN'S LOT.

In Paris you can hire a policeman at the rate of 2s. 8d. for a day, and whether it is true or not, it seems a very good idea.

Apart from the fact that you could make him generally use ul as a fourth at bridge, or to take the cat for a walk and scare dogs off, or to keep the maid company when she has to wash up after you've had guests to dinner, a private police force of your own would be invaluable. For one thing, you could take him out in have to wait ten minutes to get into the stream.

MAGNIFICENT CRICKET DURING WEEK-END

CHAMPIONSHIP KOWLOON

In a week-end of brilliant achievement, the University defeated in turn Kowloon Cricket Club and the Craigengower to put themselves on top of the first division of the cricket league, and in such a position that the I.R.C., even by winning their last match can only earn the right of a replay for the championship title.

The University, despite the absence D.J.N. Anderson, confounded all he critics by sensationally beating he K.C.C., on Saturday, robbing the 'eninsula Club of their opportunity of winning, the championship and lineing themselves in a sound positon. Yesterday they went even one etter and overcame Craigengower fter some intensely exciting cricket. If the Indian Recreation Club are o have any further interest in the Championship they must defeat Kowoon in their remaining game. A fourth wicket partnership of 155 by C. J. Stapleton, who reached three igures before being run out, and A. G. Lee (66 not out) gave the K.C.C., a comfortable win in the second division and materially trengthened their chances for the

SCANDINAVIAN CUP.

The Scandinavian Cup, contested by British and Scandinavian boats, resulted in a win for Britain by 40 points to 34 yesterday.

During the morning race, the wind was quite fresh until the yachts returned to mark off club from Channel Rock. Here the wind died away on the leaders and all boats came together in a calm off the club. Nooudy anchored though this might have been a good move on the part the leaders as the ebb tide persistent

CAN PACKER AND SHAW WIN?

SEMI-FINAL TIE TO-MORROW

KEEN TENNIS ASSURED

(By "Veritas")

Packer and Shaw, who have leapt into prominence as a result of a series of excellent achievements in the open doubles during the past fortnight are to-morrow faced with the task of beating Fincher and Goldman for right of entry into the final of the championship. Their performances have encouraged a considerable amount bf. faith among the general public in their ability to achieve this quest, and there is no doubt that; win or lose, the navy men will give an entertaining display. The Stand Court should be filled to capacity to-morrow, for this promises to be the most attractive the two doubles semi-final, and by the very nature, of the challenge to Fincher and Goldman, offers far greater, scope for speculation.

Without in any way under-estimating the value of the Packer-Shaw combination, I cannot help feeling H.K.C.C. 2nd XI. 5 for 78 that the K.C.C. couple will prove just too good for them. Goldman is a trifle more reliable a partner for Teddy Fincher than Shaw is for Packer, although Shaw has enjoyed his inspirations during the tournsment and has given his colleague worth support from the net.

PACKER ASSISTED.

The court promises to be fast and this will favour Packer, who thrives on a hard and fast court. His chief attacking strokes are sizzling forehand and backhand drives, but he needs the right type of court for their effective use. Goldman and Pincher will have to concentrate on breaking up his form of attack and both need to be in good volleying form to accomplish it. It will be surprising if the match ends in less than four sets, and it is more than likely that the whole distance will be required. I am inclined to view Fincher and Goldman's chances as the better, 3 because not only has Goldman imthe proved considerably since the start of Joan, sailed by Mr. F. Cope, won league and points for the one match the tournament, but because past capable of rising to big occasions.

FIASCO WRESTLING

DAULA TOYS WITH JOHNSON BUT GETS ONLY A DRAW

Less than 300 spectators were present at the Po Hing Theatre, Kowloon, yesterday, afternoon to see what was described as the unofficial wrestling championship bout of the Far East between "Tiger" Daula. claimant for the world's heavyweight title and Tor Johnson, the Swedish champion. The bout was to be decided on the best of three falls within a period of one hour and eventually resulted in a tie, Johnson conceding a fall to Tiger after fifty minutes wrestling.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

Ability to play a hand well is femonstrated in the following

The Bidding

Declarer was seated in the South, and his side was not vulnerable. East and West were vulnerable. He opened the contracting with one spade.

West could not overcall with two hearts, being vulnerable, and a suit overcall should not be made with a four-card suit. West, however, elected to overcall with one no trump. North bid two hearts. East passed and South bid three apades." His partner carried the contract to four. w.

The Play

West had a difficult opening. However, he selected the king of hearts and South won the trick in dummy with the ace. He returned the three of spades and won the trick in his own hand with the

He has six tremp in his own hand and three in dummy. With nine trump in sight, many players believe it is wise to depend upon the drop of any missing high trump. In this case, however, East's ten should be a warning. With two missing honours. would prefer "to play for one in each hand. ...

South correctly reasoned that he could not take the chance of trying " to pick up" the queen o spades, even if East held it. His next play was the nine of hearts which West won with the queen, but West was now practically helpless.

To lead a heart would give the declarer three discards. To lead a club would make both of the declarer's clubs good.

All that West could do was to cash his ace of diamonds, and now it was immaterial what suit he led, excepting trump, which would cost West a trick. But South had successfully made his contract of four spades. "

Discovering and creating a hidden entry in dummy is one of the pretty plays in bridge. "

MOTOR ACCIDENT.

MR. MORRIS', HELP TO THREE INJURED

'A young Chinese woman, a teacher of the Yeung Chung Girls' School of Caine Road, was fatally injured and her two young companions, a boy and a girl, received serious injuries as the result of a disastrous motor mishap, while they were proceeding along Jubilee Road at Aberdeen on Saturday morning.

The boy, named Kwok Hung-ki was driving a private motor car and as he received serious injuries after the accident it is not quite clear how his car happened to dash over the road and fall into a hollow. One of the girl passengers, Yeung Wei-lai, was thrown several feet out of the car, while the other girl passenger, her younger sister, was also badly hurt. The car was badly smashed.

Timely Assistance.

It is believed that the accident occurred between 11 and 11.30 a.m. Sometime after the mishap Mr. A. Morris, the Commissioner of the St. John's Ambulance Brigade, happened to pass in his own car. He immediately went to the assistance of the three injured, all of whom were in distressing plight and bleeding.

It was then seen that one of the vourg ladies was in grave condition and after getting all three into his car Mr. Morris drove them to the Government Civil Hospital where Yeung Wei-lai died at six o'clock on Saturday afternoon. Enquiries at the Government Civil Hospital last night elicited the fact that the other two patients are progressing well and are in no

BITTER FEELING IN GERMANY

Berl'n, Mar. 12.

The fresh Danzig-Polish incident, which is causing deep concern in European chancelleries, has revived anti-Polish feeling in Germany. The incident has excited bitter comment in Berlin.

The Polish Government, it is learned, lodged a protest with the Danzig Senate against light neroplanes from the Danzig Flying Club flying over the Westerplatte and demanding the prohibition of such flights.

The Senate refused to comply on the ground that the Westerplatte is Danzig territory and that the planes have a perfect right to fly

In reply to Mr. Strellett, he said that so far as his Company was concerned, there had been no complaints or claims regarding the shipments of birds made on their ships.

Inspector P. J. O'Brien, of the S.P.C.A. said he made daily visits to these bird shops and no numerous occasions had issued warnings against overcrowding. The birds in the present case were mostly Java sparrows and strawberry birds. Concerning the case against Chan Chun, he had five cases, each of which was divided into three compartments, and there were about 100 birds to each compartment. In the case against Chin Kan, he had one cage in which were 350 birds. The cages

FOR THE HOSTESS.

Table Decoration Up-to-Date.

A good hostess will always contrive to arrange her dining-table attractively. And a little in-genuity goes a long way when table decorations are in question.

A piece of mirror glass, a prettily moulded glass bowl, and a few beautifully tinted flowers or leaves used with imagination can distinction to the" most ordinary-looking dinner-table. It is always worth while thinking out fresh schemes, dor her table reflects the personality of the hostess and considerably helps towards the success of the meal.

One woman recently concocted a most attractive tablecloth out of so major rough woven silk-remnants from her curtains-which she planted to cover the entire table. The same idea might be carried out with linen or the new thick artificial silks which are on the market now. A charming effect can be obtained by mean: of white or coloured linen runpers. One should be laid down the centre of the tables from top to bottom, and two others placed across. This arrangement would be for six people, but if there were more than six, mats to match the runners should be used for the other covers.

Another hostess who possessed a beautiful refectory table, of which she was very proud, placed three circles of mirror down the centre. In the middle of each a square hole had been cut, and in this a shallow cut-glass bowl had been placed. Marigolds, shaded from yellow to a deep orange, floated in the bowls; and trailing leaves were reflected in the mirrors.

Some of the newest centrepieces take the form of square-cut glass bowls with beautifully moulded glass figures poised on either end. Tiny electric bulbs hidden within a cluster of leaves on the table at the side of such a bowl-but not in the waterwould illuminate the little figures charmingly.

Paris is raving about the new costumes, just launched, in lacquered silks that are called "porcelain." America has its own counterpart, expressed by this charming scarlet cire chisson jacket that tops a black chiffon speakeasy dress.

The cire chiffon gleams like lacquered satin, yet is soft like chiston. The jacket has huge puffed sleeves which slip above the elbow and it crosses in front to fasten in the centre of the back.

Hollywood.—Spring fever is breaking out in gay prints and plaids these days. Greys and greens are good colours.

Heather Angel wears a neat little Scotch plaid sheer wool suit, proving that skirts are to be cut on the straight, with kick pleats both front and back. It is a charming plaid, greens, grey and white, with the mess jacket made with conservative sleeves and bone buttons, and worn over a white silk pique shirt, with tie of same.

Dancing at the Biltmore Supper Room the other night, Heather wore a pert rose taffets jacket over her white chiffon dress, with huge, puffed, short sleeves. Other colourful combinations seen hereabouts recently in-

A POLICEMAN'S LOT.

In Paris you can hire a policeman at the rate of 2s. 8d. for a day, and whether it is true or not, it seems a very good idea.

Apart from the fact that you could make him generally use ul as a fourth at bridge, or to take the cat for a walk and scare dogs off, or to keep the maid company when she has to wash up after you've had guests to dinner, a private police force of your own would be invaluable. THE PROBLEM OF ILLITERACY

NOVEL SCHEME IN FOOCHOW

Foochow, Mar. 8. It is pleasant to be able to report a praiseworthy effort being made by the Chinese authorities to solve the problem of illiteracy. They are trying, within four months, . to see to it that every person in Fouchow, under twentyfive years of age, can read and write up to a minimum standard. The first step was taken a week or so ago, when a demonstration of teachers, pupils, and representatives of public bodies paraded the streets to arouse interest in "the undertaking. Placards were stuck up everywhere indicating the value of being able to read and the loss incurred by those who could not. A few days ago, a definite and well-prepared effort was made to find out exactly liow many of the people, are still illiterate. The whole city was divided into sections, and each section was allotted to some school or other body to investigate. The police turned out in force to lend assistance. Every house was visited, and careful note taken of those who could not read. In case of doubt a card bearing twenty characters was used to give : test, and those who could read less than fifteen were classifised as illifornte. in overcoming prejudice and getting at the real facts, but certainly some headway was made. The third step is the establishment of schools for the people, and the provision of teachers. Failure to attend will be punished, and those teachers who get good re-

THE PRINTER'S HOWLER

BLOOD DRAWN "FOREIGNER"

PUBLISHING PROBLEM IN JAPAN

A good instance of Japanese kindness of intention, but mistaken ingenuity, is revealed in a pamphlet "recently written by a correspondent in Tokyo on "The Present Situation of Education in Japan."

The author wrote: "In October, 1932, the whole of the medical faculty of Nihon University, Tokyo, declared a strike to demand the reinstatement of Dr. Nukada. recently been asked to resign. On this occasion the 700 medical forefinger and in it signed an oath their studies until the authorities agreed to reinstate their Dean."

The author corrected the proofs six times, which is the minimum number required in Japan if errors are to be avoided in any English text. He then marked them O.K. certain that the text would appear without a single typographical

. He had failed, however, to take into account the Japanese printer. When the pamphlet appeared, nicely bound, and after many copies had been duly distributed to Japanese educationists, and others gent to educational reviews in England and America, the author's attention was called to the tragic fact that the word "forefinger" annound as "foreigner" in the completed work.

The Explanation:

Seeing possibilities of diplomatic complications the author demanded an explanation from the printer, who replied that at the last moment he had indeed noticed the word "forefinger," but, as it the author must have meant on. "foreigner," with which word the printer was perfectly familiar. He, therefore, changed the type accordingly.

MAGNIFICENT CRICKET DURING WEEK-END

CHAMPIONSHIP KOWLOON LOSE TO

In a week-end of brilliant acalevement, the University defeated in turn Kowloon Cricket Club and the Cra.gengower to put themselves on top of the first division of the cricket league, and in such a position that the I.R.C., even by winning their last match can only earn the right of a replay for the championship title.

The University, despite the absence D.J.N. Anderson, confounded all ie critics by sensationally heating he K.C.C., on Saturday, roubing the eninsula Club of their opnationals winning the championship and lacing themselves in a sound postin. Yesterday they went even inc atter and overcame Craigengoway fter some intensely 'exciting' cricket. If the Indian Recreation Club are h have any further interest in the hampionship they must defeat Kowion in their remaining game.

CAN PACKER SHAW WIN?

SEMI-FINAL TLE TO-MORROW

> KEEN TENNIS ASSURED

(By "Veritas")

Packer and Shaw, who have leapt into prominence as a result of a series of exellent achievements in the pen doubles during the past ortnight are to-morrow aced with the task of beatng Fincher and Goldman for right of entry into the final of the championship.

Their performances have encouraged a considerable amount of faith among the general public in their ability to achieve this quest, and there is no doubt that, win or lose, division and materially A. T. Lee (Varsity) v C.C.C. 6 for 28 the navy men will give an entertaining display... gengower) 6 for 34

The Stand Court should be filled to capacity to-morrow, for this promises to be the most attractive of the two doubles semi-final, and by the very nature of the challenge, to Fincher and Goldman, offers far K.C.C. 5 for 23 greater scope for speculation.

Without in any way under-estimat-K.C.C. 5 for 51 ing the value of the Packer-Shaw combination, I cannot help feeling H.K.C.C. 2nd XI. 5 for 73 that the K.C.C. couple will prove just too good for them. Goldman is a trifie more reliable a partner Teddy Fincher, than Shaw is for Packer, although Shaw has enjoyed his inspirations during the tournsment and has given his colleague worth support from the net.

PACKER ASSISTED.

The court promises to be fast and this, will favour Packer, who thrives on a hard and fast court. His chief attacking strokes are sizzling forehand and backhand drives, but he needs the right type of court for their effective use.

Goldman and Pincher will have to concentrate on breaking up his form of attack and both need to be in good volleying form to accomplish it. It will be surprising if the match ends in less than four sets, and it is more than likely that the whole distance will be required.

I am inclined to view Fincher and Goldman's chances as the better, because not only has Goldman imthe proved considerably since the start of Joan, sailed by Mr. F. Cope, won league and points for the one match the tournament, but because past capable of rising to big occasions.

The Bidding

Declarer was seated in the South, and his side was not vulnerable. East and West were vulnerable. He opened the contracting with one spade.

West could not overcall with two hearts, being vulnerable, and a suit overcall should not be made with a four-card suit. West, however, elected to overcall with one no trump. North bid two hearts. East passed and South bid three spades. His partner carried the contract to four.

The Play

West had a difficult opening. However, he selected the king of hearts and South won the trick in dummy with the ace. He returned the three of spades and won the trick in his own hand with the

He has six tromp in his own hand and three in dummy. With nine trump in sight, many players, believe it is wise to depend upon the drop of any missing high In this case, however, East's ten should be a warning. two missing honours, would prefer to play for one in each hand.

South correctly reasoned that he could not take the chance of trying to pick up the queen or spades, even if East held it. His next play was the nine of hearts which" West won with the queen, but West was now practically helpless.

To lead a heart would give the declarer three discards. To lead a club would make both of the declarer's clubs good.

All that West could do was to cash his ace of diamonds, and now it was immaterial what suit he led, excepting trump, which would cost West a trick. But South had successfully made his contract of four spades.

Discovering and creating a hidden entry in dummy is one of the pretty plays in bridge.

MOTOR ACCIDENT.

MR. MORRIS' HELP TO THREE INJURED

Chinese: woman, a eacher of the Young Chung Girls' School of Caine Road, was fatally injured and her two young companions, a boy and a girl, received serious injuries as the result of a disastrous motor mishap, while were proceeding along Jubilee Road at Aberdeen on Saturday morning. ...

The boy, named Kwok Hung-ki was driving a private car and as he received serious accident after the not quite clear how his car happened to dash over the road and fall into a hollow. One of the girl passengers, Yeung Wei-lai, was thrown several feet out of the car, while the other girl passenger, her younger sister, was also badly hurt. The car was badly smashed.

Timely Assistance.

It is believed that the accident occurred between 11 and 11.80 a.m. Sometime after the mishap Mr. A. Morris, the Commissioner the St. John's Ambulance Brigade, happened to pass in hisown car. He immediately went to the assistance of the three injured, all of whom were in distressing plight and bleeding.

It was then seen that one of the voung ladies was in grave condition and after getting all three into his car Mr. Morris drove them to the Government Civil Hospital where Yeung Wel-lai died at six o'clock on Saturday afternoon. Enquiries at the Government Civil Hospital last night elicited the fact that the other two patients are progressing. well and are in no
